SOME DAY IT WILL BE ON THE MAP

A New Nevada Town that Promises to Have a Splendid Future

(By C. D. VanDuzer)
Callentes? How few people in Nevada know about this town? True, it is not on the map yet, but it is a part and parcel of the new life and industry of Lincoln county. True, Callentes may fade away in the near future like the dancing mirage that bewilders the tourist in Lincoln county, but just now it is a live town, with a post-office, four stores, five saloons, two hotels and a number of restaurants and a hot mineral spring.

Callentes is at the junction of the Cover Valley wash and of the Meadow Valley wash, and is at present the terminus of the Oregon Short Line, and the point at which an injunction in the courts has stopped all railroad track laying.

The Oregon Short Line has a temporary depot here and some 700 men make it a sort of construction headquarters. The men are strung out twenty miles down Meadow Valley wash, grading road bed.

Callentes is 27 miles from Pioche, 30 from Delamar, and 17 from Panaca. Down the wash from Callentes is a wonderful valley, hemmed in by majestic and picturesque canyon walls, extending eighty miles, containing thousands upon thousands of living springs, many ranches, and it is down this valley which widens out into the Muddy, that grapes now hang in luscious clusters, with as keen a flavor as has made California famous.

It is down this canyon and on the Muddy where watermelons mature in May, where five crops of alfalfa and two of corn are harvested, where peaches and plums thrive, where almonds grow where the olive thrives and where the oranges and lemons flourish.

The railroad is penetrating this resourceful field and will open up a market for a section which is 40 days in advance of Southern California and Arizona in the raising of golden fruits.

For a Lincoln county has been an unsuccessful region, yet as rich and fertile as any section in America. Now all is changed and transportation has opened the future of this region. Callentes, the center of this region, 373 miles from Salt Lake, nearly half of the way to Los Angeles, and is bound to be a division point. Possibly Callentes may be moved a few miles south, but here a town is going to spring up. It is a natural junction.

E. S. Peter Denton runs a stage line to Pioche, Panaca and Delamar from here, runs a hotel and generally is an active center of the town.

Charles Calverly, the mayor of the town, has a pretty ranch and numerous springs own a townsite and has developed some fine mineral springs, with the finest Col. Mason ever able to the possibilities of this future metropolis has quietly taken up an east forty right on the edge of the county, which the Colonel declares will be the residence portion of the town. A few miles below, Hon. J. Conaway has a fine ranch and orchard.

The mountains are heavily timbered with cedar. The valley well watered with springs, the bluffs seamed with vast deposits of lime, which is utilized for whitewash when it lacks in the rain. Within easy reach are vast deposits of iron and close by are the great coal fields of Utah, and all about are bodies of smelting ore.

Callentes is likely to be the point at which a big smelter will be erected. The town is now an unsubstantial city of tents, saloons, stores and restaurants and is a regular beehive of industry and excitement.

You leave Salt Lake at 7 05 p. m. and next morning you arrive at Callentes, about 1 a. m., 373 miles through the fertile fields of Utah and into the mining districts of Lincoln county and to the edge of a vast region comparing favorably with California.

Callentes is the emporium for the mines on the north and the gateway to the agricultural regions of the south. Now, mind you, I am exaggerating, for I said that this is a city of tents, but its future I cannot possibly exaggerate, for it is the center of a wonderful country and if the Short Line makes it a station or the Clark road builds up to Pioche or wins its right of way down the wash, Callentes will be a junction, a division point, and have machine shops, smelters, famous hot springs and become a splendid town.

Such are its wonderful possibilities of Nevada. So vast in her territory, so varied in climate, so infinite in resources that one section of this State scarcely realizes the resources of the other sections.

But steel rails and copper wires will unite us closely in commercial communion and Nevada in 1910 will show what no other State in the Union will be able to show, the doubling of her population.

Washoe County Miners Meet.

The Washoe County Miners' Protective Association held a meeting last night in President George Holesworth's office and discussed further a plan of action designed to prevent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company obtaining an agricultural patent to lands on which local mining men have mineral claims.

Plans for raising funds were discussed and it was decided to obtain a list of claim owners who are interested with a view to securing from them contributions to a fund for the employment of an attorney, and the sending of witnesses to testify before the Commissioner of the Land Office at Carson.

Details were left in the hands of the Executive Committee. The association will meet again, probably some night this week, at the call of President Holesworth.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT IS NOW PRESIDENT

BUFFALO, September 14.—With simple but impressive ceremony today, President Roosevelt took the oath of office and assumed the functions of President of the United States. That this means the passing of Hanna from power was evident from the fact that Hanna was not present at the taking of the oath.

All members of the cabinet will remain in office temporarily by request of the President, but it is stated on good authority that many important changes will be made later. Secretary Root will become Secretary of State and Secretaries Hay, Gage and Long will retire. Attorney-General Knox and Secretary Wilson are almost sure to remain permanently.

The surgeons performed an autopsy on the President remains today and found gangrene around all the wounds and along the course of the bullet. This was undoubtedly the cause of his death and the doctors stated that he never had a chance for his life from the first. Some of the doctors think that the assassin used a poisoned bullet, but this cannot be proved for some days.

Plans for the funeral were completed today. Simple services will be held in Buffalo Sunday and the remains will lie in state until Monday morning, when they will be taken to Washington. There they will lie in state in the rotunda of the White House till Thursday, when the State funeral will be held. The remains will then be taken to Canton for burial.

President Roosevelt today issued a proclamation appointing Thursday a National day of mourning.

THE LIFE OF MR. MCKINLEY

The Late President from the Cradle to the Grave.

William McKinley, Jr., was born at Niles, Ohio, January 29, 1843. He was educated at the public schools and at the Poland (Ohio) Academy. In 1861, at the outbreak of the Civil War, he enlisted as a private in the Union army, and before his close had risen to the rank of captain and brevet major.

In 1867 he was admitted to the bar and began practice in Canton, Ohio. He was chosen prosecuting attorney of Stark county, Ohio, in 1869. In 1871 he was first elected a Representative to the Congress of the United States and was continuously re-elected until 1891.

He was chairman of the House Committee of Ways and Means and framed the famous tariff act of 1890, known as the McKinley bill. In 1891 he was elected Governor of Ohio, held the office until his nomination for the Presidency and subsequently elected in 1896. He was the unanimous choice of the Republican party for renomination and again carried the country by an extraordinary plurality.

DEATH OF MR. MARTIN

Passes Unto His Rest.

A Prominent Citizen of Reno Solves the Mystery.

W O H Martin died at 9:55 last night at his residence, No. 111 Mill street. For four years he had been suffering from pernicious anemia, an incurable disease, and the demise was not unexpected, although it occasions sadness throughout the community.

Mr. Martin was one of the best known citizens of Reno. He was born in Wisconsin 56 years ago last Monday. He came to California in 1850 and resided there until 1868. For a number of years he resided in Reno and was intimately connected with a number of large enterprises in this city.

At the time of his death he was president of the Washoe County Bank, of the Riverside Mill and of the Reno Real Estate and Investment Company, besides being connected with a number of other corporations.

His estate is worth not less than a quarter of a million dollars and probably considerably more.

The deceased was a man of business integrity and unassuming but kindly manner. He is survived by his wife and seven children, Harry, Anna, Gertrude, Clara, Will, Carl and Margaret.

The City in Mourning.

Yesterday was a day of mourning in this city. Flags were flying at half mast over the principal buildings and little business was transacted. Scores of business houses and public buildings were draped in the badge of mourning. The universal topic of conversation was the death of President McKinley and none named him but to praise.

Will Attract Crowds.

The State Fair commences Monday in Reno and during the entire week the railroads will only charge one fare for the round trip to Reno from any point in Nevada.

Everybody will take advantage of this to meet friends and see the sights.

TO PARENTS AND STUDENTS.
Straining the eyes while studying means inflamed eyelids, headaches, nervousness, cross eyes, muscular weakness and thousand other defects. Parents should help to make studying a pleasure for children, instead of a task, by taking them to the Frank Golden Jewelry Company and having their eyes properly examined to see if there is any defect in the eyesight.

Lincolns Bucks

J. W. PATRICK, Proprietor of the Fairfield Stock Farm at Lido, Canada, will exhibit 300 Choice Lincolns Bucks at the State Fair Grounds During Fair Week.

SHEEPMEN who are desirous of improving the strain of their bands will be interested in this exhibit.

FLANIGAN'S TELEGRAM

Nevada Committeeman on the Death of the President.

Upon request of Wm. R. Hearst, Senator Flanigan sent the following dispatch yesterday to the Chicago-American:

"The most heart-rending calamity of the century!"

"All Nevada today mourns the loss of the greatest president the United States has known since the day of Lincoln."

"To think that after such a life of unselfish devotion to his country, and the hard battles of his nation have been won, that he should die by a bullet at the hand of an assassin, an anarchist, is more than this country can, or will stand."

"P. L. FLANIGAN,
"REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN."

Influx of Visitors.

Last evening was one of the liveliest Reno has seen for many a day. The town is plumb full of strangers. The hotels are already crowded to their utmost capacity and the State Fair has not yet begun.

There is no fear that there will not be sufficient rooms for the visitors this week.

Fenton A. Bonham has secured six rooms in private houses for use of visitors to the State Fair.

Take Your Family.

Go to the American Restaurant today if you want a good chicken dinner. He has also on the bill of fare nice roast duck. Chef Rice knows how to cook a good dinner and it is a good place to take your wife and family. Give him a call.

Making Soft Drinks.

D. W. McKenzie has established a soda manufactory in this city. He has installed the most modern and efficient machinery. Mr. McKenzie has had fourteen years' experience in the business. He has placed his products with a number of the local bars. He manufactures sweet soda, orange elder, ginger ale and all other carbonated drinks.

A CRITICISM THAT IS VERY TIMELY

Silurianism is the Only Stumbling Block in the Path of Progress.

Although to some this may seem bitter medicine, The Journal O. K. prescribes it. It was prescribed by Dr. Johnny Conscience.

Great is Reno! Great are her resources in agriculture, minerals and people—which last, if they are the right sort, constitute the greatest resource of any community, of commonwealth. And we think we know enough of the people of the Riverside town to say that they are, in the main, the right sort. But they seem to lack one thing which is necessary to the complete progress of every town with a future; they seem at times to be devoid of enterprise.

For instance, that liberal Scot, Andrew Carnegie, is giving away barrels of money for free public libraries. His plan in the case of small cities and towns, is to give an amount equal to what they are willing to contribute. In the last legislature, Senator Flanigan, who is one of the most enterprising and public-spirited citizens, not a native of Washoe county, but of the State, introduced a bill which would permit Washoe county to contribute $7500 for a free public library, and thus secure $7500 as a gift from Carnegie. By the terms of the bill, the county commissioners were to levy the tax to raise the first $7500, upon the certification of the district judge that a petition representing 2-3 of the taxable wealth of the county, had been presented to him in favor of such a tax. The bill was introduced in the last days of the session when it is particularly difficult to get a bill through, but through the strenuous efforts of Mr. Flanigan, who devoted much time and energy to the measure, it passed the Senate and also went through the Assembly.

One would imagine that the people of Reno would be very grateful for this excellent bit of hard work—last they would barely take time to give a banquet to and throw a few bouquets at Senator Flanigan, before beginning to fill over themselves in subscribing for it. $7500 that was to come the buttons off of Andrew Carnegie's money pocket. One would naturally imagine that the Athens of Nevada, the home of the "State University and the abode of 'cult' chaw" in these benighted mountain ranges would hail with joy the advent of a public library and that the commercial metropolis of Nevada would give the glad hand to that other $7500 of foreign coin that would be spent in Reno's midst, and raise a substantial monument to the pre-eminence of Reno as the town of the State.

But she didn't. When opportunity knocked at the front door Reno was out in the back yard trying to make a clothesline out of baling rope, or converting flour sacks into lingerie, or hurling flatirons over the fence at Carson, or holding a mutual admiration society with Lovelock and Elko, or, to sheer off the poetry, when the petition for the free library went up to the district judge, it was in the fix of Oliver Twist; it wanted more. The men representing that 2-3 of the taxable property had failed or refused to sign the petition. And some other town that has curried-cumbers the moss from its back and the hay from its whiskers will reach out for that $7500 and get it, too.

It would seem that, with a few notable exceptions, the "prominent citizens" of Reno are afflicted with that complaint which Arthur McEwen happily designated as "silurianism"—a disease which makes its appearance about New Year and lasts till about a week after Christmas in each year, and which is as a general thing, confined to elderly men, the usual symptoms of which are a fatness of the head that keeps pace with a corresponding development about the umbilicus and a constitutional inertia that would give pointers on the rest cure to a hog on ice.

Silurianism is not a good thing for any town—we speak from experience

—but for a town like Reno, a budding intermountain metropolis with high ideals, and higher rents and real estate, it is worse than morphine pills. Reno, we hope and believe, has a great future, but if she wants to get there before her grand children are grand daddies, she'll have to put a wing on the silurian cemetery.

A Memorial Mass Meeting.

This evening there will be services in none of the churches in Reno. The congregations and public generally are invited to unite in memorial services in honor of President McKinley. They will be held in McKissick's opera house at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. W. H. Patterson will officiate as chairman. The program will be as follows: Instrumental Prelude—Mrs. Layton. Invocation—Rev. Charles E. Chase. Hymn—"Nearer My God to Thee." Scripture Lessons and Prayer—Rev. Mr. Driver.

Chant De Profundis, Psalm 138. Address—Hon. A. E. Cheney. National Hymn. Address—President J. E. Stubbs. The Lord's Prayer and Benediction—Rev. Samuel Unsworth.

Returning the Cars.

A large number of empty oil cars have been passing through the past few days en route east. They are cars the company had borrowed from an oil line in Pennsylvania and have been used in the oil fields in Southern California. The Southern Pacific Company has had its own cars made for use in California and is now returning the borrowed ones. There are three hundred of them.

Ors f H O S.

Philip Ivanovich has returned from a trip to Olinghouse. He reports great activity in the camp. The Cabin No. 2 mine is producing fabulously rich ore. Mr. Ivanovich brought back some samples for exhibition at the State Fair. They will run from $15,000 to $20,000 to the ton. Of course they are not averages of the ledge. The Hutchinson is also producing fine ores. In the Forbin Mope there is beautiful rock coming from the 300 foot level.

JOHN H. DENNIS, Editor

GHOULISH JOURNALISM.

THE ghoulish attempt of certain Republican papers in California to connect the journalistic friends of the laboring men with the horrible crime of Czolgosz causes the Sacramento Bee to say: There is, in fact, danger that the horrible crime of Czolgosz will result in the strengthening of the grip which the trusts and monopolies generally, have gained in the United States. Every agency of privileged wealth is now active in exciting prejudice against opposition to the encroachments of trusts upon the rights of the people. Even William J. Bryan, as good and true an American as ever drew the breath of life, has been assailed as a promoter of "discontent," and so in a measure responsible for Anarchistic sentiment. Nothing could be more false or unjust than such attacks, but they serve to show how every act of lawlessness and violence, directed against lawful authority, reacts against popular rights and liberties.

There has been no one in the United States who has uttered and written more bitter and forcible words of denunciation of anarchism in all its phases, or of violence in redressing the wrongs inflicted upon the people by trust oppression than Mr. Bryan. We furthermore challenge the mention of any Democratic paper or the name of any individual who is recognized in Democratic councils, who has ever uttered a word or syllable that could be reasonably construed into advocacy of any other method of removing the oppression inflicted upon the people by the representatives of aggregated wealth other than by the ballot box. Freedom of speech and of the press has never, to our knowledge, been used by the Democratic party, or press in any other way than that intended by the framers of the Federal constitution, which was not license to incite murder or violence for the overthrow of the government.

The Journal, however, differs with the Bee in its belief that the crime of the assassin Czolgosz will increase the grip of the trusts and monopolies upon the people of the United States. We cannot conceive how it can be so. The assassin's crime is execrated by everyone except the Anarchists themselves, and doubtless has shocked many of those who did not force nor approve of the result of the doctrine preached by the leaders of that organization. There is but little doubt that Anarchism will now, if not entirely crushed out, at least will be so suppressed, that organization will be no longer possible, and with that, there principal reliance and power will be reduced to a minimum. They will gain no new converts and will lose many or all of its less radical members, and its present leaders will be forced to silence or be promptly punished for their mouthings. Anarchism has been the trusts main hold. They have contended that it was the chief opposition to their oppressive machinations and with its abatement they lose the strongest if not the only argument for the maintenance of their present oppressive system of trade. In our opinion the power of the trusts will decrease proportionately with the suppression of Anarchism. The trusts will notice that the Democratic press was a unit in their denunciation of the act of the cowardly miscreant who took the life of the executive head of the nation, and realize that the Democratic party which is the chief and almost the only element that openly and above-board opposes them, resorts only to constitutional and lawful means to put them down. This will naturally cause many who have heretofore paid but little attention to the causes of discontent to investigate them, and honest and intelligent investigation cannot fail to inspire opposition thereto.

Republican attempts to make political capital from the atrocious crime which is abhorred and condemned by all alike regardless of party, will realize that it meets with little favor of their own party, as it would have been rejected and disdained by the victim of the tragedy had the bullet of the assassin not proven fatal.

THE DEAD AND LIVING.

PARAPHRASING a royalist's cry, "The President is dead, long live the President." William McKinley has passed within the borders of the unknown beyond and Theodore Roosevelt presides as the executive head of the nation. Not by heritage, as one king succeeds another, but by the voice of the people who chose him as the successor of the man who has passed away. The departed President, so far as we have ever heard, had not a personal enemy in the world, and had he held aloof from politics, would in his less prominent position have possessed the friendship of his every acquaintance of whatever religious denomination, or political faith. Even his political opponent have not discredited his honesty of purpose, however they have denounced what they believed to be his mistaken acts and policy. He was a devoted husband, a genial companion and a steadfast friend. In short he possessed all of the qualities which in private life would have earned him the title of a polished and typical American gentleman.

His successor is comparatively an unknown quantity. That he was a brave soldier no one will deny. His prior political career as governor of the Empire State furnishes but little material for estimate of his executive ability, or conjecture as to his policy in the exalted position to which he has succeeded. As to the latter it will largely depend upon the wisdom and judgment he displays in the selection of his official advisors. We believe that the consensus of opinion in his party is that the latter nor the nation will be benefited by the change. But it is not a charitable opinion, and he should be given a chance to be estimated by his official acts instead of by conjecture and perhaps some little causeless prejudice. For our part, we most sincerely hope that his administration will prove a successful one, and regardless of mere partisan consideration or consequences, that he will strengthen his party, if in doing so, his official course inures to the benefit of the people of the Republic.

THE death of President McKinley necessitates the convening of Congress within twenty days after the date of demise. A law to that effect was enacted during the session succeeding the death of President Garfield. Unless legislation concerning trusts is introduced the session will probably be of short duration but if the matter is brought up it may be prolonged until the time for the regular session.

NOTICE of the Memorial meeting this evening at the opera house appears on another page. We hope there will be a large attendance. The personnel of the program, however, would indicate that the promoters of the meeting entertained the idea that the illustrious dead was President only of the Republican party. The Journal had always regarded him as the executive head of the entire nation, and we are confident that the nearly seven millions of men who voted for Mr. Bryan share our belief. None of our citizens who hold that opinion should fail to attend the services held in honor of the memory of the departed President.

RETURNS ON RICH ORES

The Bonanza Tells About
Tonapah's Big Income.

Tuesday's mail brought returns from Selby to the aggregate amount of $24,418.77. This amount is net after deduction of railroad freight and treatment charges.

The highest return in this lot was on four tons of selected ore shipped by the company which yielded 775 ozs in silver and 12 ozs in gold; a total value of $795 per ton. This shipment of four tons yielded a net return of $791.53.

Other high returns were as follows: From Lease No. 6 a lot of five tons gave a return of 462 ozs in silver and 5.90 ozs in gold per ton. Another shipment of four tons from the same lease gave a return of 378 ozs in silver and 4.75 ozs in gold per ton.

A shipment of two tons from lease No. 27 gave a return of 106 ozs in silver and 24.70 ozs in gold per ton. This ore was from what is known as the "High Strake."

The foregoing are of course exceptional returns from small shipments. The average value per ton on all returns received is about $196 per ton. The lowest return was one which gave 108 ozs in silver and 1.10 ozs in gold or a total value of about $80 per ton.

Several of the most fortunate individual leasers are reaping the rewards of their good luck in checks for big amounts. One lease received $7,344 by Tuesday's mail. Another lease received returns to the amount of $6,889 at the same time.

Wednesday was a record breaker for the amount of ore shipped from the camp in one day. On that day 53 tons left the camp for Sodaville by freight wagons. The value of this ore at a moderate estimate is $10,000, not a bad day's work, and a strong index of the future.

Will Pierce The Sierras.

The survey for the change of the road and tunnel through the mountains is going steadily ahead, says the Truckee Republican. It is probable that it will run through the mountain between tunnels eleven and twelve and along nearly south come out on the American river. It will go most of the way through solid rock which the engineers like better than ground, as it saves timbering to a great extent.

While this tunnel will be the largest in breadth and height of any long tunnel in the world, it will by no means be the longest.

It will, when completed, be over 21,000 feet less than the Mt. St. Gotthard tunnel and more than 12,000 less than the Mount Genis. It will, however, be the longest in the United States.

STOOD DEATH OFF.

E. B. Lundy, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous complaints, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Hodgkinson, will be presented with a sample bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, free of charge, and none to children without order from parents.

No throat or lung remedy ever had such a sale as Boschee's German Syrup in all parts of the civilized world. One 75 cent bottle will cure or prove its value. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

THE SIERRAS MADE BARE

How Forests Have Been
the Comstock.

During the decade from 1871 until 1884, the daily consumption of wood for fuel and mine timbering on the Comstock lode required an average of 100 railroad cars for the transportation of that obtained from the mountain range above Hufaker's Station, while full half that number more of cars were required daily for bringing it from other points. Estimating that one-half of this amount of wood was used for mine timbering it required a forest of several thousand acres in extent to furnish it, says the Report.

During the decade mentioned above there were twenty-six regular daily trains running on the Virginia & Truckee railroad besides the sections following the regular trains, which, some days, increased the total to 56 daily trains. While the average daily number running on the road exceeded forty, in many places on the lode abandoned drifts and crosscuts, were packed solidly with timbers to prevent the ground from caving, but in late years waste rock is used for that purpose. The system of subterranean timbering invented by Philip Deidesheimer while he was superintendent of the Hale & Norcross mine, has been generally adopted in all mining districts throughout the world.
